

It Takes a Village

Merry Christmas

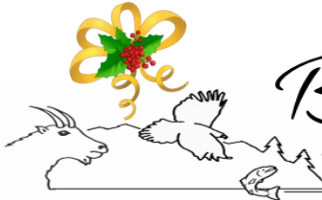

Pearl Harbor Remembrance & Happy New Year!

It's that time of year we have all been waiting for! It's time for "Cocoa and Cookies with Santa" sponsored by the Chamber. Our Center will be decorated in style for Santa's arrival by Lori & Danny Drake. The Noteables will be there bring Christmas cheer...and don't forget the cookies and presents from Santa. The Hayden Lake Youth Handbell Christmas Concert is a must see. The concert has a large youth group ranging from 4 years to 20 years old who play a Bell instrument. Included are a talented Harp and Piano player. These individuals will melt your heart and lift your soul this season. Robin Vierra will host a "Paint & Sip," class using acrylic paint. She will supply the paint supplies to create beautiful seasonal scenery. Thank you to those who have donated, participated and helped clean up after an event. We could not be successful without you. Please check our website to view this month's scheduled events at: bayview.community.center@gmail.com then click on the calendar.

Chamber Chatters & Chuckles

Impressive fishing results were reported for the last Lake Pend Oreille Anglers Club (LPOAC) Fishing Derby. The winning fish sizes ranged from 23" to 26". Of course, these sizes created some very happy anglers. There is nothing more rewarding, after being in a boat, in the cold all day, than reeling in one of these beauties. They make for great eating too!

The month of November closed with another amazing Thanksgiving Dinner, at the Community Center, put on once again by Ralph's Coffee House & Café. We are never disappointed when Daveana is in the kitchen with Kevin as her gopher. The two of them are an amazing team and their food is always top quality. A HUGE THANK YOU goes out to them and all of their helpers!

December 6, 2025 will be a busy family day. Cookies and Cocoa with Santa begins at 1:00 p.m., at the Community Center. Our favorite group, The Noteables, will begin the program by leading everyone in singing many of our favorite Christmas Carols. Whenever this group is in attendance, you can be sure we will have lots of laughter, along with all of the fun! What a way to welcome Santa.

After many years of sharing his love of Christmas with hundreds of children, Chuck Murray is passing the Santa suit to Bruce Clark. We can't thank Chuck enough for the amazing role he always played, in this annual event. Bruce will have some big shoes to fill but we are confident, with his jovial spirit, he will proudly complete the task and be loved by all. After Santa listens to each Christmas wish, the child then selects a present from the many surrounding the beautifully decorated tree. A very serious moment, to be sure.

We want to be sure we also give a huge thank you to Lori and Danny Drake for their time and effort regarding the decorations for this traditional event. They never disappoint when it comes to filling a room with the spirit of the season!

There is a saying "Life is uncertain so eat dessert first!" With that being said, after attending Cookies & Cocoa with Santa, head to the Captains Wheel at 4:00 p.m., for a Spaghetti Dinner. There will be more free cocoa and candy canes for the kids, along with activities on the deck. All proceeds from this meal, along with those from the auction, which follows at 6:00 p.m., will go to the Fireworks Fund.

The downtown Tree Lighting will happen about 5:30 p.m. with firepits and a bonfire to help keep everyone warm, down Pier Rd and at the Wheel. Of course there is more cocoa available at Taverna. Once the town is alight with the spirit of Christmas, the auction will begin.

*Who hides in a Christmas bakery?
A mince spy!*

It may have been around 2012 when our beloved Santa bid farewell, gliding into the sunset in his well-worn sleigh and whisking the Santa suit away with him. For a moment, the whole town wondered—what would become of our cherished Cookies & Cocoa with Santa event?

But then, as if by holiday magic, a local resident stepped forward, his eyes sparkling and his nose giving a merry twitch. With laughter and warmth, he became the perfect Santa, welcoming every child with open arms and a hearty "Ho Ho Ho!" Since that day, Chuck Murray has donned the Santa suit, jingling his bells and filling the air with joy. His infectious smile and cheerful spirit have delighted children and adults alike year after year. By his side, Judy has played the role of a wonderful elf, helping with gifts and guiding little ones toward their festive visit with Santa. Judy wished he could do that ALL of the time but that would not be Chuck!

We all reach a time when rest and relaxation call, inviting us to savor moments with loved ones and pass on joyful traditions. And so, the honor of making children laugh and smile will journey onward, but the laughter Chuck has gifted our community will echo for years to come.

The Bayview Chamber offers its heartfelt thanks for the happiness, laughter, and countless smiles Chuck has brought to Bayview's families and children. Truly, Chuck, you are a gift to our town—one wrapped in kindness, tied with delight, and topped with a bow of genuine joy.

And as a final sparkling note, Chuck has also generously provided the American flag for our Community Center, another thread in the tapestry of his giving spirit!

Woof woof! Huckleberry Ace Reporter here, with my best pal Jenny at my side.

EAGLES:

Let me tell you, our mom has been obsessed with taking pictures of eagles in Bayview since way before we were even part of her pack. She says the eagles only show up after the kokanee fish do their spawning thing and start lying all over the shore, looking and smelling—well, honestly, really delicious to any self-respecting canine. We’ve sniffed them plenty, but mom never lets us have a taste. She’s picky about what goes in our bowls!

Some years, there are loads of kokanee, and other years—not so much. It all depends on what happened four years ago, because kokanee live for four years, then spawn, then die, and their kids start the whole cycle over again. There was a time when Bayview almost lost all its kokanee, but some clever humans worked super hard to bring them back. My buddy Kevin Elmore apparently knows everything about fish in Lake Pend Oreille, so go bark at him if you’re curious.

When you’re trotting along the shore of Lake Pend Oreille in Farragut State Park, do what I do—stick your nose up in the air and check out the treetops. You’ll probably spot some majestic eagles up there, soaring way too high for me to chase! Those birds are always just out of reach, no matter how much I jump. By the start of January, most of the eagles fly off to places with even more fish. I’d follow them, but mom says I have to stay and guard the house!

Customer Testimonial: How Rooter Guys Saved Our Sanity
(and Our Septic Tank)

Flush with Relief: A Comedy of Clogged Errors

Our Wild Ride with Plumbing Services

Few things in life get your heart racing like a sewer line more stubborn than a toddler at bedtime. One fateful day, our line to the septic tank decided to rebel, giving us a crash course in “Homeowner Horror Stories.” We thought, “Let’s give the local plumber a shot—what could possibly go wrong?” Famous last words! After a game of charades trying to explain the problem (spoiler: nobody won), the plumber did their thing... just not the thing we needed. Fast-forward to Saturday night, and the only thing flowing was our tears as the sewer backed up. Again.

Epic Fail and Saturday Night Frights

Nothing says “party” like water where it shouldn’t be. As we faced another weekend ruined by rogue plumbing, we remembered the legends—the Rooter Guys.

They’re our trusty, caped crusaders of clog, ready to swoop in 24/7, rain or shine, sewer or septic. Desperate, we called our heroes, channeling our inner Bat-Signal (it was probably just us yelling into the phone).

The Rooter Guys: Superheroes in Overalls

In record time, a Rooter Guy appeared at our door, armed with tools, know-how, and the patience to actually listen. (Take note, previous plumber!) Within minutes, the villainous blockage was vanquished, peace was restored, and our bathroom was once again safe for occupancy. I swear I heard heroic theme music playing as they packed up their gear.

Moral of the Story

What have we learned? Never trust a backup on a Saturday, and always call the people who’ve pulled your family out of the drain before. Rooter Guys are now part of our emergency contacts—right up there with pizza delivery. When the going gets tough (or totally gross), we know exactly who to call. Thanks to them, our only backups now are in our cloud storage!

Side note: the other plumber did refund us our money

Dear Friends of Our Community,

The Bayview Community Center is the heart of our community. It is a safe, clean, and welcoming place for many events. People come here for worship, to vote, take classes, have fitness activities, eat at Lunch On Us, hold meetings, attend memorials, celebrate weddings, have parties and play pickle ball. We have indoor space including a main hall with a full kitchen, and a downstairs multi-purpose room. Outdoors, the property features a large lawn, gazebo, and memorial garden — all with very reasonable rental rates.

Our accomplishments were plentiful this past year, with lots of hard work from our board & staff, and donations from people like you.

- The entrance, foyer, hallway, upstairs main hall, and exterior were painted with new colors.
- The interior and exterior upper men's room, and foyer area received extensive repairs.
- The exterior lights were replaced with new ones.
- The north deck was rebuilt.
- The failing furnace was replaced.
- Security cameras were added to garden/building areas.
- The second Memorial Wall was completed.
- Volunteers worked hard to rescue our Memorial Garden.

That may sound like an extravagant list, but it is mostly an overdue general maintenance list. Our costs for 2025 were exceptionally high. We extend special thanks to our community groups who provide their critical financial funds through rental and lease income. Those donations are vital to the operation of the Center, but unfortunately, don't cover our total annual expenses.

We come to you now to ask for your help through monetary donations. We do not receive any money from tax dollars. We are totally supported by individual donations, fundraisers, and our rentals. We ask you to find a way to contribute whatever amount you can donate to the Bayview Community Center.

Since the Bayview Community Center is a 501(C)(3) nonprofit corporation, your donation is tax deductible. All those who contribute will receive a letter of thanks to use for your tax records. Please respond to our sincere plea and send a check issued to the Bayview Community Center and addressed to PO Box 493, Bayview 83803.

Bayview's Fireworks Auction December 6th

In addition to Kevin Elmore and the MacDonald family, Bayview is fortunate to have several dedicated individuals who work tirelessly each year to make the Fireworks celebration a true tribute to our nation. Sarah Cramer, Marie Streater, Chad Cadnum, and Kevin Huff have shown remarkable commitment to this beloved American tradition. Although the auction is being held slightly later this year, these patriotic volunteers are going above and beyond to help us reach our fundraising goals and honor our country's 250th anniversary, ensuring the festivities will be unforgettable for our community.

This year, Liz Wright, Christa Marie, and Cami Duclos have joined the cause, proudly contributing baskets, baked goods, and sharing the spirit by promoting the auction throughout Athol and Bayview. Their efforts, along with those of our entire team, exemplify the values and unity that make America special. Please show your support for the auction and take a moment to thank all those who selflessly dedicate their time and energy to celebrating our nation and making this event a resounding success.

HOW WOULD WE RATE OURSELVES?

When we are very young, time seems to drag on forever. Sitting in a classroom, waiting for the school bell to ring, waiting through an entire week for the next weekend to arrive, or waiting for an anticipated special event. How can time move so slowly? However, the slowness of time passing didn't really last for too many years, when we look back and compare it to our lifetime.

Without realizing it, all of a sudden our lives went from having babies in diapers, to having children who are well into their adult years. Somehow we never think of ourselves as aging, or how fast it happens, until someone questions us about the ages of our offspring. Then a heavy dose of reality hits - how did our youngsters get so old, while we stayed the same, or so we thought?

We know we have birthdays each year but somehow our actual age never really penetrates our brain, especially when we don't feel any different from one day to the next. Oh, we dreaded those times when we approached a new decade and for some, certain years were more traumatic than others, like reaching thirty, never to be twenty-nine again. Of course there are some die-hards who have numerous anniversaries of being twenty-nine or thirty-nine or some other number they never want to part with.

As a youngster, whenever someone asked me the age of my Grandma, my answer was always the same - "eighty" - regardless of my age at the time. Talk about making time fly for someone. The poor woman was only in her early fifties when I was born. Of course our grandparents of yesteryear were much older in appearance, and how they acted, than any of today's grandparents. However, most of them still seemed to live a long, fruitful life.

Each generation still has the same complaints about how time flies. Of course, it doesn't help when holiday decorations seem to go up earlier each year. We see Christmas decorations beginning to appear just after Labor Day weekend and Valentine advertisements the day after New Year's. Time flies fast enough with the arrival of the actual dates. It certainly doesn't need the extra months (in some cases) of commercialism.

It doesn't matter how time passes, for whatever age we might be, this tells us we need to appreciate each of our days to the fullest. We never know when we might depart this earth, so we need to appreciate the time we are given and use it wisely.

When we are young, it feels as though we will live forever. We have all of the time in the world to do whatever we want, so our thoughts and future plans can be lackadaisical at best. It is only as we age, that we become more aware of how truly short life really is. Anytime someone even thinks their end is near, the first things that come to mind are all of their unfinished plans, projects or hoped for ideas. Even family information, to be passed down to younger members, becomes in danger of being lost forever. We need to embrace our time on this earth!

Look Up – Keep a Happy Heart

As another year comes to a close, we think back on the friends and family who have passed and the ones we are still blessed to have. One of the most difficult things in life is watching those we love suffer from declining health, whether mental or physical, and knowing the only thing we can do for them is share our love.

As we witness more of our loved ones suffering from declining mental abilities, we have to re-educate ourselves in the art of making conversation. Even simple questions, like "how are you feeling today" can become complicated for someone who seems okay but has actually lost their ability to reason and think about any type of a response. Instead of questions, we have to learn to make statements like "you look terrific today".

For many of the individuals who have had to move into a care facility, their first question is usually "When can I go home?" or "I want to go home." Many times this is accompanied with numerous tears. This is the heart-wrenching part of being their non-medical care-giver, family member or friend. Now our responses need to be as creative as possible. How can we find a way to slide into a different topic of conversation? Truthfully, nothing will truly appease them, when it comes to this subject, so hopefully we can change to a happy conversation they are familiar with. They might not remember this moment, day, or week, but there seems to be great clarity when it comes to recalling events from years past.

It can be a real struggle for us to listen to the same story or question over and over but we can be truly thankful knowing (or hope we know) that our own thinking is still intact. If we are so sure of our own thinking ability, then how creative can we become when it comes to ways of conversing with someone without asking questions, which will only confuse and agitate them?

If we seldom visit or talk to someone, who is mentally challenged, they sound completely lucid and we might wonder what their problem might be. However, if we listen long enough, we discover there truly is a problem and the saddest part is the "patient" is totally unaware. They can sound so convincing with whatever they are telling you. Their details are "true facts" and it is up to us to only believe (at that moment) and not correct them. At this point in their lives, it is not the accuracy that is important, it is the happiness in their hearts.

During this time of year, cards become very important to those who might be considered a "shut-in". Many of us have gotten away from sending cards via the postal service and have become more modern with the electronic world and social media. However, we need to make a special effort to bring some "old-fashioned" joy into the lives of those near and dear to us who now only live in the world of yesteryear. Let's make this a year of giving the happiest of hearts to not just everyone, but especially to those who truly need them!

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year
